Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Some days it is just better to stay in bed.

Take this morning. We were using the wrong kind of razor blade, one of those Kookoo blades, and practically cut our throat.

Eating breakfast and wife informs us that our life blood is all over the place which necessitated a clean shirt.

Then the car would not start. Got that attended to.

Taken individually these things are not catastrophic, but collectively they are nerve-shattering. We are sort of dull in the mornings anyway and any deviation from the normal routine changes us from a gentle creature into a frustrated bear.

However, exercising great control, we got back into the swim of things and were about half-way cordial by the time we left the house.

Telephone folks out on Fourth Street this morning cutting out wires right and left. Being curious we just went out and asked them what the heck they were doing.

Seems that a little cable does all the work that a big bunch of wires had been doing so now the wires are superfluous. The poles look right here.

Southern Bell sends us a horoscope for the month of January. Lots of folks believe in sort of thing, either consciously or unconsciously.

Flaming pointers in the dark of the moon, the effects of a full moon, etc. represent some of the beliefs which have to do with the stars.

Here is their horoscope. Arries is the ram, Taurus the bull, Gemini the twins, Cancer the crab, Leo the lion, Virgo the virgin, Libra the scales, Scorpio the scorpion, Sagittarius the archer, Capricorn the goat, Aquarius the water carrier and Pisces the fish. That's all twelve.

ARIES (Birth Date: March 21-April 20). This month is favorable for catching up work, making special decisions and new contracts. Beware quarrels with close people. Publicity and honors may tire you, but are necessary to your future. Cultivate friends and well wishers.

TAURUS (Birth Date: April 21-May 21). Be wary of expensive honors or invitations, financial errors and flattery. Seek wise advice and plan your future more realistically. Be objective and deliberate. Don't let others bait you into actions contrary to your convictions.

GEMINI (Birth Date: May 22-June 21). Distant places and messages will influence your affairs. This will be a month of decisions. Weigh new information but don't be unduly influenced by others. Special insight will come near the end of the month.

CANCER (Birth Date: June 22-July 22). This month may bring a crisis in your affairs or those of someone near you. Settle anxieties privately. Clear debts and try to organize. Don't use intermediaries.

Ten Die In Hotel Fire, Many Injured; Cold Is Near Zero

By RICHARD McFARLAND
United Press International

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP) — A flash fire swept through the Carleton Hotel in downtown St. Paul in the pre-dawn cold today, trapping guests in their rooms.

The bodies of 10 persons — three women and seven men — were taken from the ancient building, which had been left a shell by the fast spreading fire.

Six hours after the first alarm, which was turned in at 4:32 a.m., CST, officials still did not know how many persons had been in the hotel when the fire broke out. Hotel employees said 54 guests many of them elderly, had been registered.

Seventeen persons were taken to St. Paul-Ramsey Hospital with injuries. Four of these were reported in critical condition.

Fire officials said they would continue to search the rubble until they could be sure no bodies were left in it. The ruins were still smoking by mid-morning and in the near-zero cold, mounds of ice quickly formed from the water that poured out on the fire hoses.

Francis Dillon, 40, a desk clerk, said the fire started in a first floor men's room and quickly spread through all four stories of the brick structure.

William Pyburn, 33, jumped from a third floor window, fractured both feet, then fell on his face and broke his nose, a hospital spokesman said.

Walter Weidman, 33, suffered a spinal fracture when he jumped from a second floor window.

When we got there three women were running down the hall with their clothes on fire like torches and we doused them with water," said District Fire Chief William Donnerbauer.

Jacob Reyer, 50, said he and his wife, Violet, 41, tried to escape by the fire exit.

"We went out on the fire escape and a lady above us who was all on fire fell down on top of us screaming," Reyer said.

"She set Violet on fire and singed my hair. We went out the fire on her coat and went back into our room and got out through the lobby," Reyer said.

Temperatures of 2 above zero and 15-mile-an-hour winds chilled the area.

The hotel is about a half-mile south of the Minnesota State Capitol Building.

Trailer Park Is Approved In City By Local Board

The Murray Board of Zoning Adjustment Tuesday granted a permit to Ed Morgan to establish a trailer park on South Fourth Street just north of the Edwin Cain property, on the east side of the street.

The lot is 106 feet wide on the highway and narrows back to 100 feet to the east. It is 220 feet deep. The lot is in a business zone.

Mr. Morgan indicated that he will construct a road 40 feet wide along the south side of the lot and will have room for eight trailers in the trailer park. The first trailer will set back 25 feet from the highway.

This makes the second trailer park approved by the board in this area. The other will be constructed by Burie Garland on South Fourth Street just north of the grocery on the corner of Fourth and Sycamore.

Two Are Charged With Breakin

Jerry McReynolds and Jerry McNeill have been charged with the break-in at the truck stop on US 64 South, formerly Dowsy's Truck Stop.

McReynolds was apprehended this morning and admitted to the break-in. He said in his affidavit that he and McNeill broke into the truck stop between Christmas and New Year's day, 1965, and took cigarettes from the cigarette machine.

He said in his statement that two girls drove them to the site, let them out, then returned to pick them up after the break-in.

McReynolds is out on bond of $200 and Jerry McNeill is under bond of $5,000 on several counts in Henry County, Tennessee.

Police Chief Parker's Record Is A History Of The Department

Police Chief Burman Parker, after serving the city of Murray for thirty years and four months, retired January 1 to relinquish the duties to younger hands.

Chief Parker served as Police Chief for 19 of these years.

He entered the law enforcement field on January 6, 1936 when he became Deputy Sheriff under the late Sheriff C. W. Drinkard. He served in this capacity until December 31, 1933 and in January 1934 joined the city police force which at that time consisted of the Chief, Flem Hays and one other patrolman Elias Robertson.

Chief Parker recalls that at that time the policemen worked twelve hours a day for seven days a week. They wore street clothes, he said and had no police cars.

The city limits at that time were drawn at 12th Street on the west, Chestnut Street on the north, the railroad on the east and Sycamore on the south.

In January of 1936 Mr. Parker became Police Chief and served for 14 years. In 1950 he resigned and worked as a security guard at Tappan and at the atomic plant in Paducah, then rejoined the city police force in September of 1955. He later became Chief of Police again and served until his retirement on January 1.

Chief Parker recalls that the department began to grow and develop as the years passed. A new patrolman was added in January 1938 and in late 1945 the department purchased the first patrol car, a 1946 Ford. The city expanded in September of 1946 and the college area was brought into the city limits. Since that time the city has annexed many other areas until today it covers a wide area.

Three patrolmen were added in January 1947 and another in January 1948. Two more were added in January 1955 and still another in January 1959.

Chief Parker said that the first

Three Auto Accidents Are Reported

City School Teachers Say No To Raise

Eighty members of the Murray City School Faculty Club voted unanimously yesterday to protest Governor Edward Breathitt's recommendation of a $200 a year raise for elementary and secondary school teachers.

The local organization supports the KGA legislative program of seven points as a fair and reasonable request. This program calls for an increase of $200 the first year and $400 the next year.

In the governor's budget the increase would be less than five per cent while the cost of living increase last year was more than six per cent. Prentice Lassiter, president of the organization said.

Lassiter attended meetings during the holidays with educators throughout the state. The feeling at these meetings was that the program as produced by professional educators was just and reasonable. Organizations in each school district throughout the state are demanding the program be adopted by the legislature. "If our elementary and secondary schools are weakened, there will be little for the colleges to work with," Lassiter said.

THANKS IN ORDER

THREE PERSONS relinquished civic responsibilities which they have held for some time, just before Christmas, and the event almost escaped notice because of the closeness of Christmas and the holiday season.

We pause now to thank them for the time and effort which they have expended in the cause of more orderly and more progressive government.

City Councilman Charles Mason Baker joined the City Council on February 6, 1959, and served on the council for the ensuing six years. While on the City Council, Mr. Baker was Chairman of the Police Committee, served on the Murray Power Board as a council member, served on the Murray Planning Commission as a council member and served on the Murray Board of Zoning Adjustment, as a council member.

He has spent many hours each week carrying out the duties of these various offices, primarily as a civic duty. The recompense of the City Councilmen is merely a token salary, and by no means would justify a person seeking the office.

We have had the pleasure of working with Charles Mason Baker in several capacities and found him to be a dedicated public servant. He has always been one to put the interests of the city above his own personal desires. The loss of this public servant to the city constitutes a vacancy which will be filled only with difficulty.

Another public servant who has given of his time and talent to the city over a span of 29 years is Chief of Police Burman Parker who resigned his position the first of the year.

Chief Parker's association with the Police Department over the years actually is a report on the history and development of the department. Chief Parker modernized the department as the years went by. Starting with a force of a chief and two patrolmen, Chief Parker saw the department grow to a fifteen man force equipped with uniforms, two police cars, two-way radio, radar and trained men with high standards.

We believe the people of Murray appreciate Chief Parker's devotion to duty over this 29 year period.

Dr. Castle Parker is the third person who was commended by the City Council for his work on a trying and effort taking assignment, the Murray Planning Commission. Dr. Parker served on the Murray Planning Commission for a period of four years, a job which does not even pay a token salary.

The Murray Planning Commission initiates the studies and ordinances in the "workable program" of the city, and is a continuing job which has as its goal setting up programs to allow the city to develop in an orderly manner.

Planning Commission meetings last three and four hours, not thirty minutes or an hour. In its early years the Commission frequently met until midnight trying to inaugurate various programs designed to aid the city grow and progress.

These three men certainly deserve a vote of thanks from their fellow townsmen for the time, effort, dedication and devotion which they have put forth for the good of the city as a whole.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

NEW YORK — Mayor John V. Lindsay, injecting a somber note into reports of progress made in solving the city's paralyzing transit strike.

"The gap remains wide between the parties."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Charles E. Weltner (D-Ga.), denouncing Ku Klux Klansmen who insist they support the Constitution as it was originally written, yet cited the First, Fourth, Fifth, and Fourteenth Amendments as reasons for not answering Congressional inquiries.

"The Constitution is originally written contained neither the First, Fourth, Fifth or Fourteenth Amendments."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Buddy Chapman of Shelbyville, Tenn., an Air Force friend of Pat Nugent, commenting on how Air National Guard trainees feel about Luc Baines Johnson's flunkey.

"At the end of a day of washing dishes, mopping and peeling potatoes, the boys were convinced that Pat could do his share of the work and then some."

ELAT ROCK, N.C. — Poet Carl Sandburg, making a general prediction of the year of his death on his 88th birthday. "It's inevitable that I die at an age divisible by 11. Two of my great-grandfathers and one of my grandmothers died at ages divisible by that number. It is fate that I follow suit."

A Bible Thought For Today

Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other. — Psalm 85:10.

For the man of God, love must be the motivating power in all his acts. Mercy is ours as a gift of God; therefore truth, righteousness, and peace are the working tools for him that knows how to forgive seventy times seven.

Income Tax Questions-Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I'm married and filing a separate return this year. When tax table should I use?

A — Use tax table C shown in the instructions if you are married and filing a separate return. If you haven't already done so, check whether you and your spouse would save money on your taxes by filing a joint return.

Q — My buddy told me that you don't have to figure how much tax you owe when you file on the 1040A. Is that right?

A — This will figure your tax when Form 1040A is filed if you wish and your income is less than $5,000.

Q — Do I have to file a return to obtain a refund? I earned less than $500 last year but did have some tax withheld from my wages.

A — To obtain a refund you must file a return. The refund Form 1040A may be the best, as well as the easiest, for you to use. Don't forget to send in your W-2 form with your return. The W-2 shows how much tax was withheld.

Q — Would you explain the minimum standard deduction?

A — This deduction is $500 plus $100 for each exemption taken on the return, but not in excess of $1,000. A married couple with two dependent children will be entitled to a deduction of $900 under this provision.

A married taxpayer filing separately may deduct $100 plus $100 for each exemption, limited to $500.

Q — My wife and I are considering filing separate returns. Can I deduct deductions while she takes the standard deduction?

A — No. Married couples filing separately must handle their deductions the same way. If one itemizes the other must too. In other words both must itemize or both take the standard deduction. Further, the same type of standard deduction must be claimed by each. If one takes the minimum standard deduction to meet the other.

Q — I've heard that one of the tax benefits for older people is to be able to sell your home at a profit and not be taxed. Is that right?

A — If certain conditions are met, you may elect to exclude the

If you sold the house for over $50,000 and the other conditions are met, then you may elect to have only a portion of your profits taxed. This tax break is available only once in a lifetime and only if you meet to use it.

These are explained in the booklet, Tax Benefits for Older Americans, available at IRS offices.

Q — Last year the amount I could deduct for child care expenses was raised to $500. Is the amount the same this year?

A — Yes. Up to $500 may be deducted when there are two or more qualifying dependents for whom an expense is necessary. Working wives whose husbands are capable of self-support must file jointly, and must reduce their deduction by the amount their husband's adjusted gross income exceeds $5,000. A man may deduct these expenses only if he is divorced, widowed, or legally separated, or if his wife is incapacitated or institutionalized.

Resolutions Meet The Human Need

By LOUIS CASSELL

It's easy to poke fun at new year's resolutions. But they seem to meet a deeply felt human need. Since biblical times the start of a new year has been regarded as a time for "renewal and amendment of life."

Years ago, a wise man wrote down a list of suggestions for human conduct which can easily be converted into new year's resolutions. He called them "desiderata." — a Latin word which may be freely translated as "the essentials."

Legend holds "the essentials" were inscribed on a plaque installed in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Baltimore, Md., when it was built in 1692. The present rector of St. Paul's says he has no proof of this story. The plaque, if it existed, was lost in one of the many rebuildings and rebuildings which the old church has gone through over the centuries.

Literary detectives have estimated that "desiderata" appeared in print in 1927 in a book of verses by Horacio poet Max Ehrmann. Poems by Max Ehrmann, copyright by Bruce Humphries Publishers, Boston. It is not clear whether Ehrmann was passing along a literary treasure he had discovered in St. Paul's Church or whether he composed the lines himself. The poet died in 1945.

Thanks To Ehrmann

In any case, it is to Max Ehrmann that we are indebted either as author or preserver of "desiderata." Here, then, is one wise man's advice on how to get the most out of life in the year ahead:

"Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence.

As far as possible without surrender, be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story.

"Avoid heat and aggressive persons, they are vexatious to the spirit.

"If you compare yourself with others you may become vain and sad."

Improvement In Weather, Steve Sloan Raise Hopes And Spirits, South Coaches

By JOHN HUSSEY

MOBILE, Ala., (AP)—Improvement in both the weather and the frayed ribs of Alabama's Steve Sloan raised the spirits somewhat of the South coaches preparing here for Saturday's North-South Senior Bowl.

Sloan worked out with the team Wednesday afternoon in light rain. It has rained since Monday, hampering practice sessions, but clear and cooler weather was due today.

The Alabama passing star was injured in the Orange Bowl, but seemed on the mend today and South coach Webb Ewbank of the New York Jets said, "If I know the boy, he'll be ready to go Saturday."

North coach Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots announced his starting offensive and defensive teams. The lineup is dominated by high-scoring quarterback Bill Anderson and end Howard Twilley, both of Tulsa. Together, the two set national scoring records during the regular season.

South Team Unsure
Ewbank said he would announce his starting team later today, following another practice workout.

Holovak selected three other Tulsa players: Left halfback Bob Daugherty, center John Omond, a 6-4, 245-pounder and guard Richard Tyson, also 245 pounds.

Tulsa Meets U. L. Cards Tonight; Unsold Feared

Tulsa may try a zone defense tonight when it hosts the University of Louisville in an attempt to contain Cardinal center Westley Unsold.

The contest will be the first of a two-game Missouri Valley Conference swing for Louisville which meets North Texas State Saturday.

The defensively tough Hurricane usually uses a man-to-man defense, but employed an effective zone in downing St. Louis 70-0 in the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu.

Unsold is leading scorer for the Cards with a 20.2 point scoring average and 20.7 rebounds per game.

The game will be Louisville's second MYC tilt. The Cardinals defeated St. Louis 84-80 last Saturday giving them an 8-2 season record.

Leading scorer for the Hurricane is 6-foot guard Eldridge Webb with an average of nearly 14 points a game.

Moore Urged To Attend UK This Fall

The Senate resolution noted Moore's accomplishments and abilities and urged him to consider UK as the place to further his education.

Moore helped pace Hopkinton High School to the Class AA football title last year.

SEC Race Between Wildcats, Vandy

By DAVID M. MOFFITT
United Press International
ATLANTA, Ga., (AP)—The Kentucky Wildcats have yet to play their first Southeastern Conference game this season, but they've already given the rest of the league the shakes.

The fast-breaking Cats vaulted to the No. 2 spot in the nation by ripping through a nine-game pre-conference schedule unbeaten and it's now the general consensus of opinion that the SEC race will be settled in the two games between the Wildcats and third-ranked Vanderbilt.

The pre-December forecast had defending champion Vandy the odds-on favorite to repeat. Kentucky, a fifth-place finisher last season with the worst overall record 15-10 in Adolph Rupp's 35 years as UK coach, was at best figured a dark horse.

The thinking was that Vandy has 6-foot-9 Clyde Lee, the conference's leading scorer and rebounder, while Kentucky lacked the big pivot man considered so essential to winning basketball.

Arnold Palmer Is Picked In Big Golf Tournament

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the man with the aura of greatness, vaulted into the favorite's role today for the start of the 72-hole, $10,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

Palmer, 36, who finished a comparatively poor No. 9 on the 1965 PGA official list with mere $56,713 in winnings, took top individual honors in the pro-am prelude to the Los Angeles Open, Wednesday by firing a 33-34-67-40 under par 36-35-71.

He picked up a total of $625 for his first official effort in 1966. Of that amount, $500 was for his individual score and $125 for his team total in the best-ball pro-am. Palmer's team finished in a tie second.

One behind George Bayer's four some, which had a net of 97.

Palmer's new old smiling self as he slipped through the Rancho Course. He had a birdie-four on the 508-yard ninth hole where a plaque marks the spot where he took a horrendous 18 in 1961. "I'm playing pretty well," he said with an impish smile.

This tournament, starting the annual run for the riches, drew 42 of the top 50 money-winners of 1965.

First prize for the man on top at the end of 72 holes Sunday is $12,000.

"MOST WANTED"—Paul Amos Crane, convicted murderer and Georgia prison escapee, is added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" at large. He was serving a life sentence for torturing to death an elderly farmer to learn the reputed hiding place of money. Crane is 44, slender, 5-foot-11, weighs 140-160, has a scar on forehead, several tattoos.

Dear Abby

Yeas And Nays!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In your column recently you said that the hostess who asks if her guests want a cold drink, coffee, or a sandwich, and then sits on her bottom without making a move toward the kitchen, is just "lazy" - and she shouldn't ask, she should get up and serve it.

Well, I'm sorry, Abby, but I don't agree with you. I am on a limited budget and I can't afford to prepare refreshments to throw out. I always ask if anybody wants anything first. And I am only too glad to serve whatever I have if it is wanted, but it bugs me when I find guests toy with their food and pretend to enjoy it when they really don't.

BUGGED IN BEAUMONT

DEAR ABBY: Just because a hostess doesn't FORCE eats on her guests doesn't mean she is lazy. Anyone who is so stupid as to refuse a cup of coffee when they really want one, deserves to go without. This business of having to BEG folks to have a cookie or a sandwich is for the birds. Whatever happened to the simple "YES" or "NO" when something is offered? I ask once and I mean it. And whatever answer I get is okay by me. I don't beg anybody to eat or drink anything in my house.

JUST PLAIN FOLKS

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I wish to differ with your advice to "OFTEN A GUEST" in which you state: "The hostess who sincerely wants to serve her guests doesn't inquire; she acts." We know some of these so-called sincere ones who act! They figure our questions are as indestructible as their. They take offense if their goodness isn't consumed, be it immediately after a banquet, or just before we hope to get some sleep.

The good hostesses we know inquire, and then, not according to "OFTEN A GUEST" in Iowa.

DEAR ABBY: What I caught you, aren't always right. I think the hostess who puts the food and drink before her guests, without first asking if they wish for anything is presumptuous and inconsiderate.

It should be the privilege of the guest either to partake of refreshments or refuse. But if something is set before him, he feels compelled to "enjoy" it or offend the host.

Fashionettes

Evidence of foundation garments' close alliance with outer apparel has been the appearance of the Courtenay look and even Mod-ran styling, to mention a couple of examples, in underpinnings. But don't forget that function goes along with fashion in girdles and bras. Choose them for what they'll do for your figure as well as for their eye appeal.

E.O. (FOOT ODOR) CAUSED BY GERMS NOT HARD TO KILL

E.O. is a disinfectant. Kill the germs, you kill the odor. Ordinary antiperspirants don't do this. POWERFUL GERMS KILLER. Ask for E.O. at any drug store, Dept. 486, N.B. at Holston Drug Co.

"MAID OF COTTON" - Nancy Bernard (above) of Lubbock, Tex., is the 1966 "Maid of Cotton." She was chosen from a field of 20 nominees in Memphis, Tenn.

NEW YORK - Foreign copper producers have raised the price for refined copper to 42 cents a pound from 38 cents. With the U.S. domestic price still at 36 cents, this poses the threat of another price struggle between the U.S. government and the producers.

MICHELLE - Actor Anthony Quinn, 50, drinks a toast to his marriage as bride Yolanda Addolori, 31, looks on in Beverly Hills, Calif. They have two sons, aged 2 and 1.

An investment in Your Future

ATTEND CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for men to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Man's first reactions to another is based on outward appearances, and only time will help him to know the heart of another. God knows, immediately, every attitude of the heart, whether it is good or bad.

"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God."

There are many rewards for those that follow the Lord. "Let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord." Attend church Sunday and share in the joy of worshipping the Lord.

Charles Edward Bramley of 509 North 2nd Street, driving a 1966 Chevrolet 4-door, was going east on Olive Street and said his car skidded when he applied the brakes and he hit the left side of the 1965 Chevrolet 2-door hardtop that was parked up to curb headed east on Olive Street, according to the police report. Robert Louis Sims, 610 N. Wash. Blvd., Arlington, Va., was the driver of the 1965 Chevrolet which is owned by Diane Wallace, 901 Main Street, Sturgis.

CHIEF PARKER

sergeants were elected in 1959, with the schedule set at eight hours a day, six days a week.

Other improvements added during the time Chief Parker was with the Police Department include another police car, radar, two way radio, improved police methods such as finger printing and procedure.

During the years that Chief Parker worked with the Police Department he gained the respect and friendship of the people of Murray and Calloway County. Firm in his beliefs, yet always considerate of the rights of the individual, Chief Parker carried out his duties with dignity and thoroughness.

Chief Parker was born near Brandenburg, Miss., near under the waters of Kentucky Lake, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Parker. He has one brother J. O. Parker, who owns Parker's Food Market here in Murray.

He is married to the former Thelma Blacklock and the couple has two boys, both dentists. Dr. Castle Parker is practicing here in Murray and Dr. William Thomas Parker is on the staff of the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

He attended school at Woodlawn which was located between Brandson's Mill and Pine Bluff and later attended school at Grindstone where George Hart was his teacher. Grindstone was located between New Concord and the river.

Thinking back over his service Chief Parker said that when the city police received uniforms for the first time, it created quite a commotion. Citizens had been used to seeing the policemen in regular street clothes and the new uniforms created quite a furor, he said.

Chief Parker said that he had enjoyed his association with the city over the past thirty years. "People have been cooperative and understanding," he said today. "I appreciate the many friendships which I have developed and will always treasure my association and experiences with the people of Murray."

The people of Murray appreciate Chief Parker too, for his intelligence, his judgement, and his dedication and devotion to duty through the years.

Marian Cockrell's bang-bang story The Revolt of Sarah Perkins

Men couldn't resist the homely old maid

From the David McKay Co. novel, Copyright © 1965 by Marian Cockrell. Distributed by King Features Syndicate

CHAPTER 25

AFTER supper with the Shaws, Sarah Perkins was concerned with the problem of the latest installment of the Indiana, George. She expected to give it to Martin Pope that evening but now of course there wasn't much likelihood of his coming. She was wondering whether she could go out—the street was a river of mud—when there was a step on the porch, and he stood in the doorway.

"Good evening," he said formally. "I've come to get Miss Perkins copy for the papers."

"Oh, Martin Shaw said, 'Well excuse me. She's retired to Persephone's room to try to persuade her to come out.'"

Sarah brought her copy three chapters this time. "One was very short," she said. "Ben Martin wrote it and I couldn't persuade him to write it any longer. He said that was all he knew about it."

"Short but full of action," Martin said, reading it. "Chapter Seven—by Benjamin Maj. com. Thunderbolt's horse stepped in a gopher hole and landed himself and Thunderbolt on a pile of quills. He had this bad luck because the fairy godmother had put a hex on him. End of chapter."

"Ben doesn't seem to have a literary bent," Sarah said. "But he did learn to spell correctly."

"Zeb Shaw said, 'He was sitting at the big center table, with papers spread out before him.'"

"Come out on the porch," Martin said in a low voice, with a glance toward the door through which Persephone might be expected to come—if she did come. He put Sarah through the door, and Zeb, preoccupied with other matters, took no notice of them.

"Sit down," Martin said. "I don't think there's much to be wiped two chairs with his handkerchief, and they sat down. 'I'm sorry you had to hear that row,' he said. 'I should have more sense than to come here.'"

"I think Persephone is very unhappy," Sarah ventured, not knowing whether he would resent her remarks or not.

"The sooner I forget all about her the better," Martin said bitterly.

"No, Martin. I think you are wrong."

"Now, don't you argue with me, Sarah. He sat scowling into the wet darkness. It was chilly and Sarah shivered, but he didn't notice."

After a moment she said, "We were deluged this morning. The schoolhouse roof is like a sieve. I'm very much provoked with the School Board; they know the roof leaked."

"I'll write an editorial on it. But I don't want to hear any more about troubles just now. Sarah, will you allow me to see you here tonight?"

"Oh, Martin, no! You can't!"

"Certainly I can assure you that nothing will induce me to invite Persephone. If you don't accept, I shall ask someone else."

"Oh, Martin, do please think about it."

"I have thought about it. Please don't be proud and talk about second choice. Of course I should have taken Persephone if she had shown any desire for my company, but actually I know I shall enjoy the play more with you."

"Martin, you are not inflicting the truth. But I shall accept so that you won't ask anyone else, and I want you to think it over and please come and tell me you are going to do as I ask and make it up with Persephone."

"Sarah, stop it! I shall not change my mind."

"Very well, Mr. Pope. I hope that within a few days you will have been persuaded to persuade him to write it any longer. He said that was all he knew about it."

"Short but full of action," Martin said, reading it. "Chapter Seven—by Benjamin Maj. com. Thunderbolt's horse stepped in a gopher hole and landed himself and Thunderbolt on a pile of quills. He had this bad luck because the fairy godmother had put a hex on him. End of chapter."

"Ben doesn't seem to have a literary bent," Sarah said. "But he did learn to spell correctly."

"Zeb Shaw said, 'He was sitting at the big center table, with papers spread out before him.'"

"Come out on the porch," Martin said in a low voice, with a glance toward the door through which Persephone might be expected to come—if she did come. He put Sarah through the door, and Zeb, preoccupied with other matters, took no notice of them.

"Sit down," Martin said. "I don't think there's much to be wiped two chairs with his handkerchief, and they sat down. 'I'm sorry you had to hear that row,' he said. 'I should have more sense than to come here.'"

"I think Persephone is very unhappy," Sarah ventured, not knowing whether he would resent her remarks or not.

"The sooner I forget all about her the better," Martin said bitterly.

"No, Martin. I think you are wrong."

"Now, don't you argue with me, Sarah. He sat scowling into the wet darkness. It was chilly and Sarah shivered, but he didn't notice."

After a moment she said, "We were deluged this morning. The schoolhouse roof is like a sieve. I'm very much provoked with the School Board; they know the roof leaked."

"I'll write an editorial on it. But I don't want to hear any more about troubles just now. Sarah, will you allow me to see you here tonight?"

"Oh, Martin, no! You can't!"

"This is a torn cat," Sarah said. "I have named him Christian for excellent reasons. He jumps on the furniture, climbs skirts and trousers, howls like a banshee when thwarted, and refuses to go out in the rain."

Let's face sobered. "The cat's name is Christian. I didn't know you had a cat."
